

Moderna is my interpretation of Italian cuisine. One that has been shaped by my roots and refined through ten years in Filipino gastronomy.

It is where the grounding experience of a traditional Piedmontese steakhouse, military discipline, and Italian agricultural heritage meet a decade of food and life in the Philippines.

At its core, my food is Italian - guided by technique, structure, and clarity, yet introduced to Filipino ingredients, climate, and sensibility. There is no dilution of identity, only its marriage.

Moderna is not fusion in the conventional sense. It is the result of lived experience. It is Italian Soul and Filipino Warmth.
